

WE NEED YOUR HELP!

Enhanced Learning Educational Services has sponsored the construction of a free-standing library at the Wat Chi Kreng Primary School in the Siem Reap province of Cambodia. The library has been built in the traditional Khmer style, and includes child friendly furniture, flooring, shelving, maps, puzzles, games, and of course, books. Room to Read (the amazing group that organises this www.roomtoread.org) has stocked the library with English and Khmer books totaling 500-1,000 over 3 years, and will provide 3 years of library management training to a designated teacher. Wat Chi Kreng Primary School is located in a poor rural area in Siem Reap where families rely on subsistence farming for their livelihood. With this new library, 664 children (in a 6 room school!) now have access to a new colorful and engaging reading room.

BUT WE NEED YOUR HELP!

The children love their new library filled with books!

WE NEED YOU TO WRITE A LETTER TO STUDENTS IN WAT CHI KRENG PRIMARY SCHOOL IN CAMBODIA!

Prue Salter from ELES will be visiting the library in January 2010 and would love to take students there a special letter from a student in Australia so they can use them to practise their English – and feel special! Just write a simple letter 'Hi, My name is....!' and just talk about yourself, your life and your interests. Maybe draw some pictures. Even better if you added something fun to the page. Decorating the page with photos from magazines, or pictures or drawings along with a simple letter would be great. You don't need to put the letter in an envelope.

Then just give the letters to your contact or send the letters direct to ELES PO Box 9 Neutral Bay NSW 2089. We would like to take each of the 664 students at this Cambodian school a letter (even if it is not personally addressed) from a student in Australia that they could keep and take home and use to practise their English!
